DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to amendment file on 09/26/08.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 13-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Orton et al. (U.S. Pattern 6684261).

3. As to claim 13, the prior art teaches a method of scheduling processing in a hardware threaded circuit, comprising: receiving inputs corresponding to unthreaded processing of an application (see fig 4 col 7 line 50 to col 8 line 31); receiving information including processing element resources, a number of processing elements, and a window size corresponding to a number of downstream processing states to be examined (see fig 4 fig 11 col 32 line 33 to col 33 line 24, and background); and generating a hardware threaded schedule for processing the application with at least first and second one of the processing elements being interconnected to enable dynamic resource sharing (see fig 4 col 11 line 32 to col 12 line 38 and col 21 line 9 to col 23 line 11).

4. As to claim 14, The prior art teaches further including synthesizing the hardware threaded schedule to an Application Specific Circuit (ASC) (see fig 10 col 31 line 16 to col 33 line 24, and summary).

Art Unit: 2825

5. As to claim 15, The prior art teaches further including synthesizing the hardware schedule to maximize throughput (see fig 10 col 31 line 16 to col 33 line 24, and summary).
6. As to claim 16, The prior art teaches further including synthesizing the hardware threaded schedule to reduce power consumption (see fig 10 col 31 line 16 to col 33 line 24).
7. As to claim 17, The prior art teaches further including receiving resource constraint information for the processing elements (see fig 4 col 11 line 32 to col 12 line 38 and col 21 line 9 to col 23 line 11).
8. As to claim 18, The prior art teaches a hardware threaded circuit system, comprising: a memory (see fig 4 col 7 line 50 to col 8 line 31); a task manager coupled to the memory (see fig 4 fig 11 col 32 line 33 to col 33 line 24, and background); and a plurality of processing elements coupled to the task manager, wherein first and second ones of the plurality of processing elements are interconnected for hardware threaded processing to enable dynamic borrowing of processing resources associated with the second one of the plurality of processing elements by the first one of the plurality of processing elements (see fig 4 col 11 line 32 to col 12 line 38 and col 21 line 9 to col 23 line 11).
9. As to claim 19, The prior art teaches wherein the circuit maximizes throughput (see fig 10 col 31 line 16 to col 33 line 24, and summary).
10. As to claim 20, The prior art teaches wherein the circuit reduces power consumption compared to a non-threaded processing for substantially similar system wait times (see fig 4 col 7 line 50 to col 8 line 31).
11. As to claim 21, The prior art teaches wherein the first and second processing elements each include a first type of resource and a second type of resource and a multiplexer such that the interconnection includes at least one input signal being provided to the first type of resource in the first and second processing elements (see fig 4 fig 11 col 32 line 33 to col 33 line 24, and background).

12. As to claim 22, The prior art teaches wherein the interconnection includes a connection from an output of the second processing element first type of resource to the first processing element (see fig 4 fig 11 col 32 line 33 to col 33 line 24, and background).

Art Unit: 2825
